

Virtual Learning and the Diverse Workforce of Tomorrow

Education and economic development are critically linked. As COVID-19 has forced us to learn virtually, are we considering the potential impacts on today's students of color who will later become tomorrow's workforce?

Join the Partnership for Southern Equity's Just Opportunity Circle on Wednesday, September 23rd at 11 am for a panel discussion exploring the impact of distance learning on tomorrow's Black and Brown workforce. We will also explore best practices and innovative strategies for virtual workforce development.
